

SUMMARY

- Agile teams need to be self-organizing and cross-functional
- For big products break it into features/functional parts, not stages of development to ensure end-to-end ownership
- Each team goes through 4 stages: forming, storming, norming and performing